The announcement in THE SUN the other day that ex-Representative Perry Belmont's boom for Governor is to be launched on Tuesday night at a dfuner of the Democratic Club or Fifth avenue, on which occasion Mr. Belmont is to be the chief guest, has resulted in stirring up the friends of Assemblyman John B. Stauch-field, the minority leader of the Assembly.

A number of Mr. Stanchfield's friends were at the Hoffman House last night, some of whom have recently conferred with Senator Hill in Washington and with Senator Murphy at Fort Monroe, While they did not wish their names used, they said that it could be set down as a copper-rivered fact that neither Senator Hill nor Senator Murphy has given assurances of personal support to any one of the Democratic candidates for Governor Belmont, Stanchfield, Senator Jacob A. Cantor, or Mayor John Boyd Thacher of Albany. These Democrats said that each candidate must get to work and develop his own strength to satisfy the Democratic leaders of the State of his fitness for the nomination. Mr. Belmout has recently published several interviews giving his views on the money question, and he is unalterably opposed to anything but a gold plank in the State Convention. Mr. nt is to reiterate his views at the dinner on Tuesday night.

Assembly man Stanchfield told his friends yesterday that he is going after delegates to the State Convention. He proposed to hustle, and his friends said that from the day the Legislature adjourns at Albany he is to give his undiwided attention to his Gubernatorial boom.

For the purpose of aiding Mr. Stanchfield in this direction a number of Democrats have in terested themselves and will, after the Legislature adjourns, get together at Albany and adopt plans to gather in the delegates in the up-

Already Mr. Stanchfield's friends have sent out Already Mr. Stanchfield's friends have sent out volumes of correspondence all over the State in his behalf, and at this meeting in Albany reports as to the results of this correspondence are to be submitted. Some of Mr. Stanchfield's friends advocated last night that the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor should be named at the State Convention which is to meet on June 24 at Saratoga to name the delegates at large to the Democratic National Convention at Chicago on July 7.

It was suggested that this would make rather a long State campaign, and this elicited the Stanchfield was ready to start right out now if necessary.

As to the candidate for the Court of Appeals to be nominated this fall to succeed Irving G. Vaon, recently appointed by Gov. Morton to fill out the term of Rufus W. Peckham, some Democrats say that Supreme Court Justice D. Cady Herrick of Albany is favored, but that there is objection to him on the ground that his term as a Supreme Court Justice does not expire until Dec. 31, 1905. Others say the Democratic leaders favor the nomination of Supreme Court Justice Charles F. Brown of Newburgh, whose term expires on Dec. 31.

Justice Brown accepted the forlorn hope as a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals to fill out the ticket when Senator Hill ran for Governor against Gov. Morton.

Something was said about nominating Senator Jacob A. Cantor for Lieutenant-Governor, but Cantor's friends said that he was a candidate for Governor and nothing else, and that if the Democrats wanted a first-class candidate for Lieutenant-Governor they could not select a better man than ex-Senator John J. Linsson of Ulsier county, who, by the way, is Mr. Cantor's law partner.

It is given out as a positive fact that the money plank of the Democrats at Saratoga will be just as sound as that adopted by the Republicans at their recent State Convention. The Hon. William C. Whitney and Senator Murphy have recently had a friendly talk at Fort Mon-

The talk is that the delegates at large to the Sympactic Convention at Chicago will be Mr. Hill, The talk is that the delegates at large to the National Convention at Chicago will be Mr. Hill. Mr. Murphy, Mr. Flower, and Mr. Whitney. Mr. Whitney has said all along that he was very greatly engaged with his business matters, and it is doubtful whether he would care to go as a delegate at large. In case he should decline some Brooklyn Democrat, it is said, would be selected. The Democrats who talked for Stanchfield said that they were convinced that the Democrats can cauture the State and a majority of the Assemblymen this fail. They were not so anguline as to the Presidential fight in the State, but they were hopeful.

It was ascertained that there is to be a strong effort made to induce the Tammany leaders to send sound money men to the Chicago Convention.

It was declared that among the national delegates to be sent by Tammany should be such well-known advocates for the strongest kind of sound money as J. Edward Simmons, James Stillman, Frederic P. Olcott, James T. Wood-

Saliman, Frederic P. Olcott, James T. Wood-ward, and Robert Maclay.

The Congress Conventions of the Democrats in New York county will not occur until about the middle of May, but between now and then the necessity of sending Democrats with pro-nounced convictions on this important question will be urged upon Tammany. It was added that there was never a year in the history of Tammany when its delegates at a National Convention could be of more solid value than at Chicago this year.

A RECEIVER FOR MRS. POST. She Endorsed Her Husband's Notes and then Declined to Pay Them.

Maurice B. Blumenthal, a lawyer, of 271 Broadway, has been appointed a receiver for the property of Mrs. Virginia W. Post of 123 West Seventy-seventh street, by Judge Schuchman of the City Court. Her husband, George V. Post, purchased some time ago a quantity of silverware of the Gorham Manufacturing Company, in payment for which two notes for $1,600 endorsed by Mrs. Post were accepted. When the notes fell due payment was refused and they were protested.

Mrs. Post, as endorser, was asked to pay the notes, and she declined, whereupon the Gorham Company began suit against her through their Julius Offenbach, Judgment for $433.75, the amount of one of the notes, was granted by default, and when Lawyer Offenbach was unable to collect the money he had Mrs. Post brought up in supplemental proceed-bach was unable to collect the money he had Mrs. Post brought up in supplemental proceedings.

At yesterday's session of Judge Schuchman's Court Mrs. Post testified that her father, who died eleven years ago in Brooklyn, had left a fortune amounting to a little more than $800,000. The only heirs under the will beside the defendant were her two sons and her married sister, Mrs. William C. Little, of 268 West Seventy-seventh street. Mrs. Post said that she was entitled to an income of $1,000 a year, and an additional allowance of $2,000 for household expend in order to maintain her house. Her two sons, James A. and George W. Post, Jr., received an income of $1,000 a year, and under the provisions of her father's will they were obliged to pay her $120 a month for board, George W. Post, Jr., she said, was a student in Seton Hall College at South Orange, and he was not paying her any board. Mrs. Post declared that she was not able to nay the Judgment. She said her furniture was martigaged for $7,000. A diamond plu which her father left to her had been paymed for $200. It was valued at $1,200, the said.

Lawyer Blumenthal said last night that he had made a formal demand on Mrs. Post for her property, and that he would enter upon the duties of receivership at once. There was also, he said, a pair of drainond carrings belonging to Mrs. Post, which had been paymed, and she alleged that the tiefet was in the possession of a Mrs. Hicks of Madison avenue. They were valued at $1,500.

An American woman bid for $5,000 worth of the bonds at par. She said in her letter that she was an ardent sympathizer with Cuba. Many bids were made by Cubans, but the large majority came from Americans. Sedor Palma said:

the large majority came from Americans. Senor Palma said:
"Of course, I believe that some few of the bids may be fakes, as happens always in such affairs, but the success of the loan is assured. This money will help us give a big blow to Spain. I am sure that nearly all the terrifying news from Spanish sources in the last few days was elaborated so as to damage the loan."

Señor Ponce, Pressident of the Commission of Bonds in the Cuban Delegation and one of the chief promoters of the loan, said the success of the loan was the same as a big victory over the Spaniards.

It is said that Señor Palma intends to use this extraordinary increase of the Cuban fund to, send at once to Cuba several expeditions, which can provide Gomez and Maceo with means enough to end the war soon.

BOIES BEATEN AT HOME.

The Gold Men Defent the Silverites in the ex-Governor's County.

WATERLOO, Ia., April 25.- The gold standard people won a decided victory in Horace Boles's county here this afternoon. They outnumbered the silver Boles men three to two. The silvertes, however, will send a contesting delegate on to the Dubuque Convention, but it is now pretty clear that the gold men will also outnumber them at the State Convention. Today's Convention was characterized by storm;

At the outset the Cleveland man captured the Convention through Secretary Walker of the County Committee. Just as the organization was perfected, Chairman Scott of the committee entered the hall, ignored the proceedings, and called another Convention. Thus the two Conventions went on in the same hall, each side trying to how! the other down. The disturbance continued for more than an hour, neither side being able to transact business.

In the interest of harmony the Cleveland men summoned Sheriff Law, and Marshal Klingman was brought to the scene by the white metal nen. No arrests were made. The Conventions alopted resolutions on the money question. The silver men declared themselves in favor of Boles for delegate at large or any place the party may have for him in the State or nation.

Man's Picture Displayed Also. INDIANAPOLIS, April 25. The Republicans of this county held their nominating Convention to-day, and the decoration of the hall caused a lively controversy between the friends of Harrison and McKinley, resulting in the withdrawal of Harrison's picture from the stage. Just before the Convention met a large campaign picture of the ex-President was carried into the hall to be suspended over the stage. Some of the McKinley admirers learned of this od insisted that a picture of McKinter should be placed alongside that of Harrison.

Objection was made to the companion piece.
It was urged that Harrison's picture had graced the stage in all Republican Conventions since the stage in an Republican Conventions since 1886.

The McKinley men replied that it was time that McKinley's pleture was displayed, and if Harrison's went up McKinley's should hang by its side. Some of the party managers heard of the controversy and had the picture of the ex-President sent back to the Marion Club.

They decided that no pictures should be over the stage. Afterward a picture of the late Senator Oliver Morton was brought to the hall and auspended from the wire where Harrison's has hung so often at Republican Conventions. The incident was commented upon considerably by the delegates when it became known, but it passed off without awakening further friction.

Sixteen counties have instructed for silver and four endorsed the Administration. The other counties hat no resolutions. Mr. Hummer believes the ratio for the balance of the State outside of Detroit and the upper peninsula will be about the same.

McKinley may not be the man, but he certainly seems now to have a long lead."

"But the field is against him," was suggested. "It is anybody to beat McKinley."

"Pardon me," replied Mr. Richt, "It is hardly that. We may have had such contests in the past, but this is not one of them. A few gentlemen who intend to relieve the national Republican party of the trouble of nominating a caudidate by settling it among themselves may feet that way, but the delegates are of contrary omnion. Pennsylvania, for instance, will no doubt support Senator Ouy in good faith as long as its delegates think he has any chance, but if they fall with him they will not then be hunting around for anybody else to beat McKinley not a bit of it.

"As a matter of fact, a number of them are eager to vote for McKinley as soon as possible. The New Hampshire delegates gave a pretty good clue the other day in their State Convention as to how they would feel in case they could not get Reed. Evidently they are not hunting for anybody to beat McKinley.

"Nobody can tell who is sure to be nominated until the Convention has had a chance to express its own wishes on that subject. # HELPING THE LANDLORDS.

Not All of Sallsbury's Supporters Will Vote for the Land Rates Bill.

LONDON, April 25.-The Government finds that the first serious defection in the ranks of its followers arises from the Agricultural Rates bill introduced a few days ago in the House of Commons, which measure provides for a radical chauge in the taxation on land.

Besides a number of Liberal-Unionists who have announced that they will not support the bill several Conservative members who represent urban constituencies are likely to vote with the Opposition. The Ministerialists say that the secessions will not exceed a dozen, but the Liberals expect that on this bill the normal Government majority will be reduced by fully fifty votes.

The Irish Nationalists will vote selidly against the measure. All this, however, will not prethe measure. DUELLING IN GERMANY.

The Betchatag Resolution Against It Is Bend Letter.

Beatin. April 25.—The futility of the de-bate on duelling in the Reichstag this week, which resulted in the passage of a resolution condemning the practice, is becoming generally scognized. The sum of the matter is that the highest personages in the country refuse to take decisive measures to check and thereby condons the continuance of the custom. The Leipziger Neueste Nachrichten reflects the prevalent sentiment, apart from that entertained in military and aristocratic circles. The Government, the paper asserts, could not make a zealous defence of a practice which is in direct conflict with the public laws, nor could it assume the tone of the extremist of totally condemning the custom of duelling. Still, there might be found some mode or Gov ernmental utterance against the practice which would be consonant with the current feeling. The weak attitude of the Ministers has satisfied nobody, and all Germany now knows that the Government does not intend to take any action as a result of the resolution passed by the Reichstag.

The Frankfurter Zeitung says that as long as custom imposes upon officers or the German army the obligation to engage in duels, and as long as the Cabinet order issued in 1874, recognizing duelling as legitimate, remains unrevoked, and the authorities of the universities do not take severe measures to put a stop to such encounters among the stu dents, the resolution adopted by the Reichstag will remain a purely platonic manifestation. The Bismarckian press quotes Prince Bis-

Chancellor's support of the custom. These journals contend that a great part of the nation, and not the worst part of it, either, will ever resort to the duel as the last and the best resort in the settling of differences involving personal insults. They admit that courts of honor may limit but will never consent to the abolishment of the usage.

He will further demand the withdrawal of the charter of the British South Africa Company. The prospects of the British regime in South Africa are not of the brightest.

BERLIN, April 25 .- The sentence of three years' penal servitude, the loss of his civil rights for five years, and the payment of a fine of 1,200 marks, which was imposed upon Baron von Hammerstein, formerly the editor-in-chief of the Kreuz Zeitung, is regarded as severe by his friends, who cherished the hope that he would escape the ignominy of convict labor and receive a sentence of simple imprisonment. It is probable that this idea inspired the submissive ine of defence which his counsel pursued, one of the features of which was Hammerstein's humble confession of his errors and the avoidance of expected disclosures involving many of his old associates who are still in high places.

Even Hammerstein's political enemies admit that the Court meted out to him punishment of the most extreme severity consistent with the

the most extreme severity consistent with the law, which was perhaps as unexpected to them as it was to the friends of the defendant. The trial abounded with interesting points, and every one present felt the pathos of the former Conservative leader's personal pleading to the Court before the sentence was pronounced.

He had lived recklessly, he said, and erred greatly. He was now old and broken down, and trusted to the mercy of Heaven and the compassion of men.

Dr. Stoecker, formerly court chaplain, and a close friend of the prisoner, conversed with Hammerstein while the Court was deliberating prior to imposing the sentence, and upon leaving turned to the convicted man and said:

"The Lord is gracious and merciful. Rest with him. His goodness endureth ever."

Haron von Hammerstein bowed his lead in silence. His former friends, Count von Kanitz and Herr von Finkenstein, gave evidence of the differences existing between themselves and Hammerstein. They avoided looking at him, and he kept his eyes averted from them. The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court at Leipsic.

right to know the methods of those with whom

The firms in the Trust assigned their patents to the "National Company." The assignment of the patents of the Otis Company was made to this company March 23, 1891, and on the same date the "National Company" licensed back to the Oris Company the right to manufacture under these patents in certain parts of the United States. Some of the States set apart to the Otis Company are New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. The Otis Company agreed to pay the "National Company" $8,000 a year, quarterly, in advance, for the right to sell, under the Trust patents, in the territory assigned them.

manufacturers dwelt together in peace. After the Trust was formed the independent elevator manufacturer who did not find himself with a patent suit on his hands, or who did not find his customers threatened with a patent suit, was a rarity. After having our customers threatened for many months, a suit was finally brought July 14, 1893. How it was brought we have already told in some of the leading New York papers.

The suit was moving along with that slow, easy gait with which patents sults are wont to move that are not brought to be tried, till last fall, when we discovered that the Otis Company did not own the patent on which they had brought suit. We could not allow these competitors to bring suit with impunity on other people's patents, then use such a suit to aid them in securing orders that would otherwise come to us, so we at once instituted a damage suit against the Otis Company. The day after we served the summons their attorney wrote us threatening letter, concluding with these words: "Should you circulate the statements made in your said suit, it would be at your peril," This letter shows how extremely anxious the Otis Company were not to have the facts of this suit known.

What a world of trouble would have been saved the Otis Company if they could only have known that complex industries of long and gradual growth, like elevators and umbrellas can never be controlled by a Combine. A Trust to be successful must be guided by men of large ability, and the nature of the business must be such that it will lend itself to trust manipulation. Something more is needed to control a great industry than simply being incorporated under some high-sounding name, but happily this phase of the Trust epidemic is about over and we shall probably see no more of it for some

HE PLEADED GUILTY,

But the Jury Said He Was Not Gullty, and He Was Set at Liberty. IN. April 25 .- A case that was tri result. The Treasurer of the city of Elbing. Herr Ruhm, was charged with the embezzlement of 24,000 marks of the city funds. He pleaded guilty, but the court, upon a technical point of law, proceeded with the trial, the result being that the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty." Upon the announcement of the verdict the Judge frowned and asked the jurors if their verdict had been duly considered. The jury re-plied that it had, and persisted in their finding Ruhm not guilty, whereupon the defendant, who had confessed his guilt, was set free.

Fought with Pistols, Then with Sabres. VIENNA, April 25 .- A duel was fought this norning between Baron Fejrvary, Hungarian Minister of National Defence, and M. ## Oscar Wilde in Good Health.

LONDON, April 25 .- Friends of Oscar Wilde ecently persuaded Sir Matthew White Ridley, the Home Secretary, to send Home Office doc tors to report on his condition. They alleged that since his imprisonment his mind has broken down. The doctors reported that Wilde's health was good, and that he had light labor. The Home Secretary thereupon refused to make the smallest remission in his sentence.

GOLFERS ARE OUT AGAIN.

FIRST HANDICAP OF THE SEASON AT ST. ANDRES'S

A Tie for the Cines A Prince Between Sweney and Park-Brown Wins in Cines B on His Bandleap-Thirty-two Players Hand in Pull Cards-On Other Links. Rather ragged play was the rule at St. Andrew's yesterday, when the members turned out in force for the first monthly handlesp of the eason. This was to be expected, for some of the contestants had not touched a club since the autumn, and none were in the form they will show in future competitions,

In class A. H. R. Sweney and James Park tied for the prizes, with the net scores of 86, and will play off at a later date. In class B, James Brown, who had the liberal handleap of 30, won the first prize, his card showing 80 net, and J. E. Weekes was second, with the net total of 80 His gross score, 99, was rather above his recent form, and will doubtless cause his promotion to lass A next month. The regular putting greens were in use for the first time this year, and were in excellent order after the long "rest." The balls ran true, but the turf is not as quick as it will be when the greens have been used a few times more. The stones have been removed from the face of the hill, on the way to the fifth hole, and, although some huge boulders are still projecting, there is great improvement over the old condition The old road, just before the Oak hole, has been cut into a sand bunker. The only part of the links not in perfect order was the low ground in the north field, which was soggy and soft, but will soon be dried out by the spring sun-

This swampy bit of land is in the line of play for both the Dell and the Oak holes, and trapped many a ball. It caused the elevens on the cards of Messra. Weekes and Chadwick, and the eight in Mr. Stoddart's score, while it bothered Mr. Elliott in the play for both the Oak and the Dell. Some of the best cards follow:

Sweney is a member of the Albany Golf Club as well as of St. Andrew's, and has been in the game during the winter. He uses a driver of his own invention, shaped something like a bulger and weighted with lead. Chadwick, who has played recently at Alken, Baltusrol, and Lakewood, has improved in his game since his last appearance at St. Andrew's.

GOLF AT KNOLLWOOD

I. E. Van Etten Wins in the Thebaud Cup

Kerr played from scratch, to gain a rating in future handicaps.

Ten players made the rounds in the renew of the Thebaud cup competition at the Knoil wood Country Club yesterday, which will be continued fortnightly hereafter. The eighteenhole course has been lengthened and new putting greens made during the winter and links were in perfect shape for good golf. A scratch player, L. E. Van Etten, was the win-ner. His driving was strong and very effective, but his putting and appreach plays were not so good. The scores: Gross. H'cap. Net

GOV. GRIGGS ON THE LINKS. He Played a Round at the Paterson Golf Club.

The golfers of the Paterson Club were out on the links for the opening competition of the season yesterday, the event being the first monthly medal handicap. The greens were in fine playable order, especially the newly sodded putting grounds. Gov. Griggs, the President of the club, was a contestant, but withdrew before the end. Other withdrawals were C. D. Cooke, F. W. Cooke, D. Griggs, and C. Ferenbach.

This left ten to hand in scores, the winner turning up in J. M. Magie, who had the substantial benefit of a novice's allowance in the handicap. Some very pretty golf was displayed by A. H. Larkin and Henry Hewat. The scores follow:

ESNEX COUNTY GOLFERS OUT.

Informal Opening at the Orange Country Club Links, Onazag, N. J., April 25.—The golf links at the Essex County Country Club were informally opened to-day, when about twenty-five members played over the course. The grounds were in perfect conoffice, but the screen made were poor. Buring the afternoon the roads and drives in the vicinity of the grounds were lined with carriages and alyhan schulpages of all kinds. The buff ourse was head, the new links not being in readiness. No matches were played, and of those who went over the white course more flowers before the action to the state of the for the sixteen holes.

When the new links are finished a number of rinb and o, on fournaments are to be held under the

LAWN TENNIS SEASON OPENS.

The local lawn tennis season began on Friday with the opening of the West Side courts at Elehty-ninth street and Central Park West. Several of the other clubs will open within a few days, and before the end of the week all will be in full operation. The rumor about the Kings County Club's courts has proved true, and it is now known that the crack Brooklyn organization will lose the grounds, which its members have used so long, at Kingston avenue and Dean street. The club is negotiating for another piece of preperty close by the old location, however, and hopes to begin the work of laying out new courts there within a few days. The courts of the reorganized Mount Morris Tennis Club, at 126th street and Lenox avenue, are now ready for use, and the members will begin practice this week. A formal opening will be held next Saturday afternoon, when an exhibition match between Fischer and Paret will be one of the features.

match between Fischer and Paret will be one of the features.

The first championship event of the season will be the tournament for the Southern championship, which begins Tuesday, May 19, on the courts of the Bachelors Club, Washington. At a recent meeting of the Southern Lawn Tennis Association, heid in Washington, the details of the meeting were decided upon, and John C. Davidson will have charges of the tournament. Several New York players will enter. Perhaps the most interesting feature of this tournament will be toe first appearance in the East of Thomas A. Driscoll, exchampion of the Pacific coast, and one of the most brilliant players in the far West. Driscoll is a student at Georgetown University, and he will represent his college in the Southern championship. His fellow collegians look upon him as a sure winner. Driscoll won the championship of the Pacific coast in 1803, but was beaten the following season by Samuel Hardy, the present holder of the title. He won the championship in doubles in 1893, but was beaten the following season by Samuel Hardy, the present holder of the title. He won the championship in doubles in 1894, however, with G. B. De Long. Driscoll may also be seen in some of the Eastern tournaments this season, and his play will be watched with more than ordinary interest. He will be the first expert from the extreme West that has been seen or Eastern courts since 1892, when Hubbard and Tobin, the California cracks, played at Nahant, Longwood, and Newport.

Another stranger, Charles A. Volght, who is said to be one of the most expert tennis players in all Germany, is visiting here in New York, and intends to play in some of our American tournaments before returning to his home. He will go abroad this year, but he does not expect to play in many of the tournaments. He will go abroad this year, but he does not expect to play in many of the tournaments. The New England championship tournament scheduled to begin at the New Haven Lawn Club's courts, May 2%, promises to be in many ways the most important event of the early spring. John Howland holds the New England chailenge cup, and he will undoubtedly defend his claim to the trophy, while Chace, Foote, Budlong, and perhaps Wrenn will be among those who will try to wrest the title from him. The Middle States championship at Orange, two weeks later, will see iiobart! Howland, Stevens, and Wrenn after the honors.

Stapleton, the two men came in his place during the evening and wanted to see some lockets. He showed to them all the lockets he had, but none seemed to suit them, and they left. Then, Tertisch says, he missed one locket, and he had the men arrested. The locket was not recovered. The police found in the possession of the men two boxes, each of which contained one dozen slik handkerchiefs, and also -ixteen pawn tickets for jewelry and other things.
